

Food & Nutrition

JULY/AUGUST 2015

Discover | NEW PRODUCTS

food trends

Discover new food items from supermarket shelves and restaurant menus.

Available as fettuccine and spaghetti, House Foods' Smart Noodle line is made of oats and rice bran and contains 20 calories, 6 grams of fiber and 400 milligrams of ALA omega-3s per serving.

Featuring appropriately sized soft pieces to help babies master the developmental milestone of chewing, Gerber® 3rd Foods® with Lil' Bits™ come in individual tubs and a variety of flavors, including seven fruits and three vegetables.

Kettle Brand® Popcorn has added Jalapeño to its line of popcorns made without trans fats, MSG or preservatives, and containing 50 to 54 calories per cup.

The newest addition to its line of meat alternatives, Quorn Bacon is soy-free, gluten-free and non-GMO.

With a higher smoke point than traditional oils, Carrington Farms Coconut Cooking Oils are rich in medium-chain triglycerides and come in unflavored and rosemary, garlic and Sriracha flavors.

Made from pasture-raised, grass-fed beef, New Zealand Jerky is available in three flavors: Original, Peppercorn and Teriyaki.